

www.irc.nl/prodwat

Productive
use enhances sustainability...

The sustainability of domestic water supply systems can be increased by explicitly including productive water uses that provide the means and motivation for people to engage in the management of systems. These uses generate income that can be invested in system improvement and maintenance.

